Housing Counseling

When you applied for a loan modification under the Housing Affordable Modification Program, we analyzed your monthly debts, including the amount you will owe on the new mortgage payment after it is modified, as well as payments on a second mortgage, car loans, credit cards or child support. Since the sum of all of these recurring monthly expenses is equal to or more than 55% of your gross monthly income, you must agree to participate in housing counseling provided by a housing counselor approved by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) as a condition of receiving a modification under the Home Affordable Modification Program. This counseling is provided at no cost to you.

Counselors will work with you to create a household budget and develop an action plan to reduce your household debts. Your housing counselor will also provide you support during the loan modification process.

These services offered by HUD-approved housing counselors are free. Housing counseling is required for borrowers whose total monthly debts are very high in relation to their income (equal to or more than 55% of their gross monthly income). If counseling is required for you, a page entitled "Housing Counseling"

- If you make your new payments on time each month, we will not conduct a foreclosure sale.
- You will not be charged any fees for this Trial Period Plan or final modification.
- If your mortgage is modified under this program, we will waive all unpaid late charges.
- Staying current on your payments is the best way to maintain your credit score. However, by entering into a modification, your credit score may be negatively impacted. Credit scores are determined by the credit bureaus and are not controlled directly by Bank of America beyond our commitment to accurately report the status of all our customers. Visit ftc.gov/bcp/edu/pubs/consumer/credit/cre24.shtm for more information about your credit score.
- You may be required to attend credit counseling.

Q. Why is there a trial period?

The trial period offers you immediate payment relief. Making all of your payments during this trial period will demonstrate that you can afford the modified payments and that they work within your budget. Note: This is only a temporary Trial Period Plan. Your existing loan requirements remain in effect and unchanged during the trial period and you will continue to receive monthly statements that will show the payment amount based on your original home loan agreement. However, please pay the new trial period payment amount instead of your original payment amount my new payment in the trial period determined? Q.

Your total gross monthly income, which your financial documents indicate is $4.426,60. The pew payment includes principal and interest and an example amount of $256.81 to pay properly taxes, insurance and other paints able excrow fees. If we wore able to modify your foen today, based on the information you gave us, we estimate your modified interest rate would be 2.875%. If we modify your loan permanently after the that period, the interest rate may be different due to a variety of factors that affect the terms of your tinal modification.

If you did not have an escrow account before, the timing of your tax and insurance bills may require that you make a payment to cover any such bills when they come due. This is known as an escrow shortage. Your loan has an escrow shortage of $1,150.07; this can either be paid in a lump sum when the loan is modified or over the next 5 years (or 60 months). If you wish to pay the total shortage as a lump sum, please contact us.

When will I know if my loan can be modified permanently and how will the modified loan Q. balance be determined?

If you make all of your Trial Period Plan payments on time, return any additional documents that we may require, and agree to participate in housing counseling as described on the enclosed page entitled "Housing Counseling", you may receive a modification agreement detailing the terms of the modified loan. Any difference between the amount of the Trial Period Plan payments and your regular home loan payments will be added to the balance of your loan along with any other past due amounts as permitted by your loan documents. While this will increase the total amount that you owe, it should not significantly change the amount of your modified mortgage payment as that is determined based on your total monthly gross income, not your loan balance.

What happens to my trial period payments if I do not comply with the terms of the Trial a.

Your trial period payments will be applied to your existing loan according to the terms of your loan documents.

- Q. Are there incentives that I may qualify for if I am current with my new payments? If your loan is modified, you can earn a pay-for-success incentive for every month that you make on-time payments beginning with the trial period payments. Depending on your modified monthly payment, you may accrue up to $1,000 each year for five years for a total of $5,000. This important benefit, which will be applied to your principal balance each year after the anniversary date of your first trial period payment due date, will help you earn equity in your home by reducing the amount that you owe. However, you must remain current on your loan. You will lose this benefit if your modified loan becomes 90 days past due at any time during this five year period. If you lose this benefit, you will lose all accrued, unapplied incentive payments.
- Q. Will my interest rate and principal and interest payment be fixed after my loan is permanently modified?

If your loan is modified, your interest rate and monthly principal and interest payment will be fixed for the life of your loan unless your initial modified interest rate is below current market interest rates. In that case, the below market interest rate will be fixed for five years. At the end of the fifth year, your interest rate may increase by 1% per year until it reaches a cap. The cap will equal the market rate of interest being charged by mortgage lenders on the day your modification agreement is prepared (the Freddie Mac Primary Mortgage Market Survey Rate for 30-year, fixed-rate conforming mortgages). Once your interest rate reaches the cap it will be fixed for the remaining life of your loan. Like your trial period payment, your new monthly payment will also include an escrow for property taxes, hazard insurance and other escrowed captures. Changes, your monthly payment will change as well.

- Q. How low can my interest rate eo? I CES OF Your marest rate may be reduced to as low as 2%, if necessary, to echieve a payment that you can afford it will only be reduced to a point sufficient to reach a modified payment equal to 31% of your gross more by the come (your income telepre taxes). Not all porrowers will head a rate reduction to 2% to achieve a monthly mortgage payment that is effordable
- Q. What happens if that is not enough to get to an affordable payment? If a 2% interest rate does not result in a payment that is affordable (no more than 31% of your gross monthly income), we may:
  - Extend the payment term or maturity date of your loan up to 40 years from the effective date of your permanent modification. If your loan is not eligible for an extension of the payment term, your payment may be calculated over a longer period of time, but your maturity date will remain the same. This may result in a balloon or lump sum payment which is due when you pay off your loan, refinance, or sell your home.
  - Defer a portion of the principal amount you owe until the maturity of the loan. This is called principal forbearance. This deferred amount will not accrue interest and must be repaid when you pay off your loan, refinance, or sell your home.
  - Forgive a portion of the principal amount you owe before and/or after we take any of the other steps mentioned above.
- Q. Could I end up with a balloon payment?

Yes. If principal forbearance (see definition above) is required to achieve an affordable monthly mortgage payment, the principal forbearance amount would not be part of the interest-bearing, unpaid principal balance on your loan, but you would still be responsible for the balance. That amount would constitute a balloon payment that does not accrue interest and is not due until you pay off your loan, refinance or self your home. In addition, if your loan term cannot be extended, but your payment is calculated over a longer term, there will be additional principal owed when you pay off your loan, refinance, or self your home.
